TEMPERANCE

Advertising Mail.
A dairy farmer in Northern Illinois happened into a barber shop, forcefully expressing his opinion of a state of society which gives the food producers so little for his efforts.

The barber heard him through, then said, "You won't get any sympathy from me. I drove by your farm the other night and saw a big beer sign on your silo. For two or three dollars you are permitting your silo to be used to advertise a competitive product that has already reduced milk consumption twenty per cent in this town. Why don't you advertise your own products?"

The farmer went home with something to think about. Perhaps that barber has made a real contribution to farm relief.—The Christian Science Monitor.

Says Mussolini

Benito Mussolini, strong man of Italy, says, "I, in the last five years, have closed 27,000 saloons. Give me time and I will close them all." Many of our American vets have been singing of the joys and blessings of the wine-making countries of Europe. Now comes Mussolini declaring he will close all the saloons and turn the vineyards of sunny Italy into wheat fields.—Chicago Evening Post.

Food Decimals

Daddy was disgusted with neighbor Jones. "Swiga beer like a sponge. Drink 10 glasses, one after another—make a fool of himself, he has to be carried home dead drunk!"

Billy asked, "Daddy, how much did you drink?"

"Only one glass," said Daddy virtuously.

Billy has been studying fractions. "One glass is 10 per cent of 10 glasses," he calculated. "Mr. Jones was a fool to drink 10 glasses. Were you 10 per cent of the food, Daddy?"

Anti-Trust Laws

Wake After 30 Years

In discussing the small business man under the NRA, Senator Charles McNary, of New York, said it was necessary to revert to the condition of the small business man before the NRA was passed.

"The anti-trust laws, which by 1905 had been discovered to be an impediment to the development of efficiency," he said, "were by 1925 being subverted by business and blindly ignored by the government. An inflexible statute which merely said, 'Thou shalt not,' was not helpful either to small business or to the public, both of which required positive guidance and assistance. The good features of the anti-trust laws fell into disuse along with the bad."

As a consequence, social superiority of business ceased entirely. Foul and destructive practices wrecked the frame work of honest business. Monopolies and restraints of trade naturally flourished as never before. Statistical evidence showed an intensifying concentration of money and power in 200 huge corporations gained a sway of empire over 50 per cent of our national wealth. And every voice raised was muted by the callous satisfaction of the leadership then in power.

"The last came from Italy, when I Duce announced that every Italian citizen will be given army training—no matter how old.
